By JACK BELL
and WILLIAM PEACOCK

CHICAGO (AP) — Presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon announced today that GOP vice presidential nominee Henry Cabot Lodge will go ahead with his United Nations work in August.

Nixon told a news conference that President Eisenhower has asked Lodge to present the U. S. position on disarmament to the U. N. next month.

Because of that, Nixon said his running mate will avoid public political activity during this period.

He did not make it clear immediately whether Lodge will resign his U. N. post later, but that was the assumption.

Nixon said he himself will be in Washington weekdays for the congressional session, which the Senate opens Aug. 8, but will be campaigning each weekend in various parts of the country.

Nixon said his meeting this weekend with congressmen and others particularly interested in farm problems would be "primarily a listening session" for him. But he said that later he will have a major farm speech.

Nixon said President Eisenhower "wants to play as effective a part as he can" in the campaign, and he expects the President will make several speeches.

"He called me this morning and he was delighted with the action of the convention in the selection of Ambassador Lodge," Nixon added.

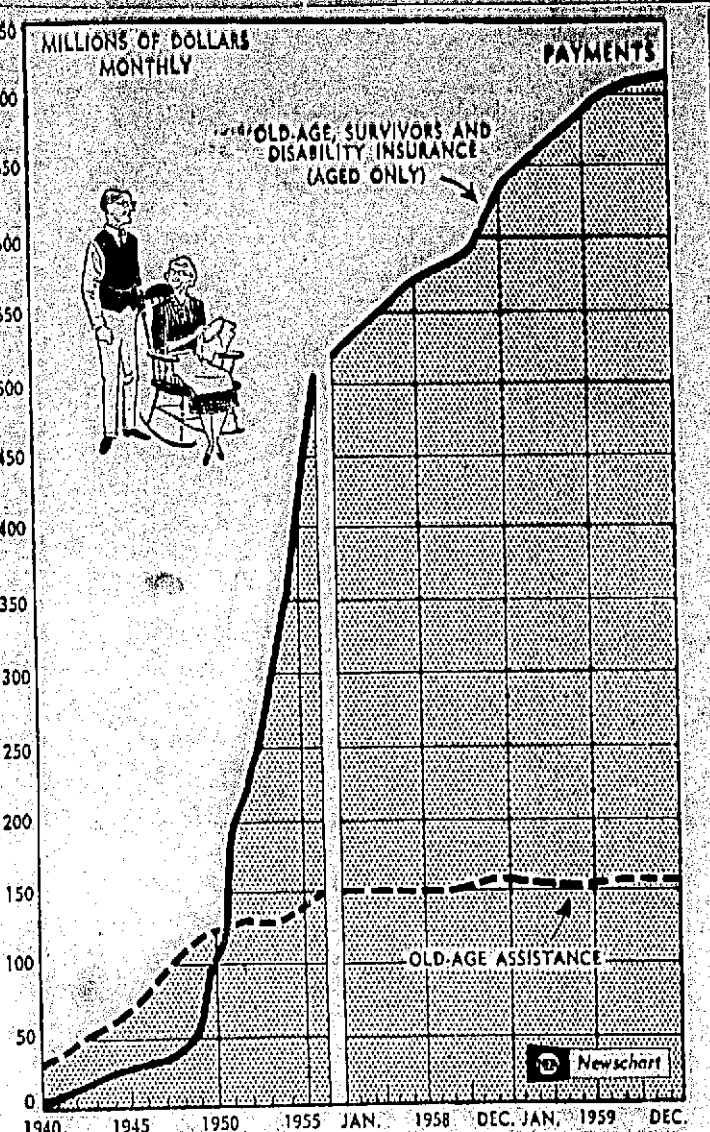

He said Lodge was "very high" on the President's list of those he thought should be considered, and he was delighted with the action of the convention in the selection of Ambassador Lodge," Nixon added.

He said Lodge was "very high" on the President's list of those he thought should be considered.

"Asked what Congress should deal with when it reconvenes, Nixon said he thinks that is a matter for Eisenhower.

Nixon said he himself will make no comments "except in support of what he (Eisenhower) believes

M. Stuart Is Appointed to FHA Group

Appointment of E. Monroe Stuart as a member of the Farmers Home Administration County Committee was announced this week by C. L. Riggs, the agency's Acting County Supervisor serving Hempstead and Nevada Counties.

Mr. Stuart owns and operates a beef-cattle farm near Ozark. He is 34 years old and is married to the former Maxine Byers. He is active in community and farming affairs and has served on various agricultural committees in this county.

Two other members make up the 3-member committee which works with the county supervisor to see that the best possible use is made of the agency's farm credit service program consistent with local farmers' needs. The other two members are Mr. Harold L. Bobo, R. L. Fulton, and Mr. R. B. Arnold, R. L. 3, Hope, Ark. Each member is appointed for a 3-year term.

Mr. Stuart succeeds Mr. Truman Hill of Ozark, Ark., whose 3-year term expired this year.

The committee determines the eligibility of industrial applicants for all types of loans. It also reviews borrowers' progress and aids the county supervisor in adapting the agency's loan policies to conditions faced by farmers in this area. Members are selected and appointed so that, so far as possible, different areas or neighborhoods are represented.

The Farmers Home Administration makes annual or intermediate term loans to farmers who need adequate funds to buy equipment and livestock, and longer term loans to build or repair houses and other essential farm buildings, and to purchase or improve land suitable for family-type farm operations.

It also advances credit to farmers or their non-profit associations to establish and carry out approved soil and water conservation practices, and to install and improve irrigation and farmstead water facilities.

Wrong Initial

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York introduced the GOP presidential nominee in glowing terms at the convention Thursday night, but gave him the wrong middle initial.

Rockefeller wound up by presenting "Richard E. Nixon," accenting each syllable and the initial for dramatic effect.

Nixon's middle initial is M. for Milhous.

Local Boys to Report on Jamboree

Families and friends of local Boy Scouts who have been attending the fifth National Boy Scout Jamboree in Colorado Springs, Colo., will be looking for them on KCMCTV at 7:30 p. m. Saturday, July 30 when highlights of the Jamboree will be shown.

Viewers will have to look carefully for the seven scouts and one scout leader from our area, as there were almost 60,000 scouts at the Jamboree which celebrated 50 years of scouting in America.

The "City of Tents" where the scouts lived during their week's encampment became the fourth largest city in Colorado as well as the largest tent city in the world. The tents covered six miles and 2,300 acres of land. The army stationed a division of men there to help with the operation. There were two general hospitals, six or seven fire stations, and tons and tons of food.

Jerry O'Neal, Scoutmaster, Troop 62, attended the Jamboree as a member of the Region 5 staff. He helped with some of that food as he worked in the Jamboree Commissary as an assistant commissary officer, distributing food for 1,400 scouts.

Local Boy Scouts who attended the Jamboree were Al Weisenberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Royce Weisenberger; Richard Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Turner; Bobby Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mitchell; Harry Ray McMahen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle M. Mahen; Paul Guerin, son of Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd Guerin; and Jimmy Barentine, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Barentine.

The above scouts are members of Troop 62, sponsored by the Century Bible Class of the First Methodist Church. James Luck, son of Mr. and Mrs. James O. Luck, also attended. He is a had blundered and didn't know what he was talking about in his remarks to a Republican party gathering in Chicago Wednesday.

Advocating a middle-of-the-road policy, Eisenhower cited the "scurrying record of suicides, drunkenness and lack of ambition" in a friendly European nation with a Socialist system. He didn't name the country, but Norway, Sweden and Denmark all have socialist governments.

Kidnap-Slayer Dies in Chair

McALESTER, Okla. (AP) — Edward Leon (Pete) Williams, 31, was executed in the electric chair at state prison Thursday night. He shook his head when Warden Robert Haines asked if he had anything to say.

Williams was sentenced to death for the kidnaping of Tommy Cooke, a Tulsa ministerial student, in June 1956. Before his trial on the kidnaping charge, he was given a life sentence for Cooke's slaying.

U. S. Space Venture Again Fails

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — An attempt to rocket an unmanned Project Mercury space capsule on a severe test was wrecked today, apparently by an explosion in the Atlas booster.

The one-ton capsule and the Atlas rocket assembly apparently sank in the Atlantic 4 to 12 miles off Cape Canaveral.

The Atlas with the capsule perched in its nose blasted off at 8:13 a. m. EST in a driving wind and rain storm and was immediately followed by low hanging clouds which obscured the apparent blowup from Cape observers.

Twenty minutes after launch the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that all radio contact was lost with the booster 65 seconds after lift off.

At a news conference later project officials reported that "something catastrophic — perhaps an explosion or structural disintegration — occurred which terminated the test."

"They said elementary data was being studied to determine exactly what happened."

But hopes were abandoned that the experiment would give information about the worst atmosphere re-entry conditions a future astronaut might encounter.

Robert Gilruth, Project Mercury director, said the capsule had practically no chance of being found afloat in the water. He said an abort-sensing system radioed back information on the rocket failure.

"If a man had been riding in the capsule," he said, "it would have carried a 16-foot escape tower that could have rocketed the man away from the exploding missile."

The Atlas was to rocket the one-ton capsule 110 miles into space and 1,500 miles downrange to check on its ability to withstand a jarring plunge back through the earth's atmosphere.

The big missile with the Mercury capsule on its nose was launched in a driving wind and rainstorm at 8:13 a. m. and was immediately swallowed in low-hanging clouds.

Twenty minutes later the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced: "Preliminary data indicates all radio contact with Mercury-Atlas-1 was lost approximately 65 seconds after launch. Further data analysis is required before more positive test results information can be determined."

An official said that even if the Atlas failed during powered flight

Withdrawal to Start Soon Belgians Say

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Belgians promised today to start soon a withdrawal of their military forces in the Congo. Premier Gaston Eyskens' Government announced about 1,500 men will be brought home in the near future.

There are about 12,000 Belgian soldiers in the former Belgian colony, sharing police duty with the 3,500-man U. N. command. The U. N. Security Council has asked the Belgians to get out quickly.

Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba wound up his two-day visit to Washington with a charge that Belgium threatens all Africa.

Then the Negro leader headed to Canada in his continued quest for Western money, technicians and medical help.

Before boarding his plane, Lumumba again warned there is a danger of world war unless the Belgians get out immediately. He expressed confidence, however, that "soon Belgian troops will leave."

He implied he had won American support for his efforts to prevent secession of Katanga, the rich province whose copper mine revenues have financed 60 per cent of the Congo budget.

"I know now that the United States cannot approve of any division of my country," he said. "Maneuvers to break up our republic will fail. I know now that no nation will recognize Katanga as an independent state."

There was no comment from Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon, the ranking American to bid farewell to Lumumba, on these remarks.

U. N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld was deep in the problem at Leopoldville, the Congo capital.

Congo Cabinet ministers, meeting under the leadership of Deputy Premier Antoine Gizenga, drafted a series of demands and proposals for Hammarskjöld's consideration.

They want him to speed up the evacuation of Belgian soldiers from the whole country, including Katanga and the two military bases the Belgians hold under a treaty of friendship and assistance signed shortly before Belgium freed the colony June 30.

Nine Persons Die in Collision

The victims: Patty Lee Roberts, 36, and Dess Lettermann, 49; Mrs. Roberts' son, Marilee Lynn, 8; and six Lettermann children — David 16 months; Ramona, 3; Joy, 5; Susie, 7; Johnny, 9, and Mary, 10. Mrs. Roberts' daughter, Connie, 17 months, was in critical condition.

The truck driver, John Sello Bostick, 28, was hospitalized with shock.

Patrolman S. C. Merchant said the car driven by Mrs. Roberts had pulled from a stop sign into the path of the truck which knocked it into a small ditch and crushed it.

Rate Bureau to Survey This City

The Arkansas Inspection and Rating Bureau plans a complete survey of the Hope water system and fire fighting apparatus. This survey will bring the fire rating of the city up to date giving credit for all the water-works improvements and the additional fire fighting equipment toward lower fire insurance costs.

In a letter from S. E. Schubert, Chief Engineer of the Inspection and Rating Bureau to City Manager Garland Medders, they propose to begin the survey about the middle of August.

The new 750 gallon per minute fire truck, which is scheduled for delivery between the 1st and 15th of August, will have to be tested and approved by an engineer from the Rating Bureau. According to Mr. Schubert, this engineer will remain in Hope and make a complete study of the improvements and this, the Bureau will rate the city for insurance rating purposes.

For years, Hope has been literally "hanging by their teeth" to a class 6 rating. In 1953, the city was rated as class 7. After some work had been done, it was again rated in 1955 and lowered to a class 6 rating. A good bit of the credit allowed at that time was for the promise of some immediate improvements in the water system, community for lack of adequate water system, fire department, and many other things that go in to make up good fire protection. At 3,000 deficiency points, a community is rated as Class 7. Hope's present rating is 2,336 deficiency points. When sufficient improvement has been made to lower the deficiency points below 2,500, the city would have a class 5 rating. The improvements to date will lower the deficiency points and will put Hope in a good firm class 6 position, with the prospect of it as low as class 5.

The basic fire rate under a class 6 rating is $3.00 per $1,000 of insurance. The class 7 is $4.00 per $1,000, or an increase of one-third. For years, Hope has been hanging dangerously close to class 7 rating which would cost the community many thousands of dollars.

The recently completed improvements insures that this will not happen, and there is even a prospect of lowering the insurance rates. Just where we stand in this matter will be determined by the survey by the Inspection and Rating Bureau and future plans for water works improvement will be based upon recommendations of the survey.

Angry Koreans Seize, Burn Ballot Boxes

By JOHN RODERICK

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — More than 2,000 angry Koreans seized and burned ballot boxes to night at a counting place near Masan. A member of former President Syngman Rhee's Liberal party was leading other candidates there in South Korea's National Assembly election, the country's first free election in a decade.

Police said students and citizens cut electric power in the building, then broke in, grabbed nine of the ballot boxes and carried them into the street, where they were burned.

The scuffle took place at San Chon Pa, a port city of 50,000, about 30 miles west of Masan. Police at the provincial capital of Pusan said they were considering calling in troops to maintain order.

Former Vice President John M. Chung's Democratic party seized commanding leads in contests for 15 of 23 lower house seats in first returns from the balloting. In a 16th race, Lee Jai Ilyon, a member of the Liberal party, was leading in the Masan area. Revolutionary student groups had threatened reprisals if their supporters succeeded in capturing seats in the new two-house National Assembly, which will elect a prime minister and president.

At least 40 police were injured, but none seriously, in the fighting at San Chon Pa. Provincial police headquarters at Pusan rushed 300 officers to the scene.

Young Gangs Fight It Out in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Two gangs of negro teen-agers, some armed with guns, others with crude weapons, clashed on a West Side street corner Thursday night in what police called a vengeful fight. Before it was over one youth lay dead, another injured.

Negroes and white persons hurled rocks and insults at each other at a swimming pool and public rounded up more members of a Negro gang said to be responsible for a series of rapes and robberies in Lincoln Park on the North Side.

About 25 members of the Egyptian Colours and Vice Lords gangs participated in the street clash which was marked by gunfire.

Richard Parks, 16, died with a bullet in the chest. Sammy Mitchell, also 16, suffered a bullet wound in the shoulder. Both were members of the Vice Lords.

Police seized one of the Egyptian Colours, Robert Lewis, 15, who was carrying a .22-caliber rifle. Lewis, police said, admitted the shootings which he said was in retaliation for Parks hurling a brick at him earlier in the day.

Two other members of the Colours also were seized and held without charge. The other gang members fled when police arrived.

In another move, police hauled about 15 members of the Vandals gang in for a showup. Five members of the Vandals have been indicted for rape, robbery and assault after they allegedly beat two white men with baseball bats and raped their pregnant wives Tuesday night in Lincoln Park.

At the showup, several victims of recent robberies and assaults in the Lincoln Park area identified several youths as their assailants, police said. The youths were held for further questioning.

In another incident, several white persons raised objections when about 60 Negroes showed up at a South Side swimming pool used predominantly by whites.

A crowd of 300 gathered while white persons and Negroes tossed rocks and insults back and forth, but quickly broke up when police arrived. Ten Negroes and four white persons were picked up for questioning, but were not charged. There were no serious injuries.

Governors to Attend Guard Camp

MT. POLK, La. (AP)—Sprawling Mt. Polk, closed by the Army a little over a year ago, will spring to life again this weekend as 11,000 National Guardsmen from Louisiana and Arkansas pour into the central Louisiana military post for two weeks of active training.

The Army ordered Mt. Polk closed after a hassle with Louisiana congressmen. The post was supposed to have been a "permanent" installation.

Only a handful of soldiers — a caretaker detachment — has been on the post the past year.

The annual trek of Louisiana and Arkansas guard units will begin Saturday and continue through noon Sunday. Civilian soldiers — 6,500 of them — with more than 1,000 military vehicles will be involved in the Louisiana phase of the movement.

An additional 4,500 members of the Arkansas National Guard will move from the north to join in the training exercise.

Most of the troops are members of the 39th infantry division — equally divided between Louisiana and Arkansas. Maj. Gen. George W. Trosdale of Monroe, La., is division commander, and Col. Leslie C. Cave of Baton Rouge, La., is the division chief of staff.

Govs. Jimmie H. Davis of Louisiana and Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas are scheduled to attend Governor's Day ceremonies Aug. 6.

On Aug. 13, the Louisiana and Arkansas troops will draw two weeks of regular army pay and begin immediately packing up for the movement back home early the next day.

Reporter Indicted on Murder Count

UNION, Mo. (AP) — Crime reporter Theodore C. (Ted) Link of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch was indicted yesterday on a charge of first degree murder.

Link, 55, is accused of killing handyman Clarence W. Calvin July 11. Calvin was shot twice with a shotgun and three times with a .38 caliber pistol.

Link had been questioning Calvin about a fire which destroyed Link's $15,000 summer home near St. Albans, Mo. He had fired Calvin as a handyman and believed Calvin might have set the blaze.

The newsman said he fired when Calvin advanced on him with a hoe and a knife. But Link's 11-year-old son, Ted Jr., told inquest he thought Calvin was seated on a picnic table when the first shotgun blast was fired and was on the ground when the pistol shots hit him.

Neither Link nor his son testified before the grand jury. Arraignment was set for Sept. 6.

Kennedy and Johnson to Plan Strategy

By G. MILTON KELLY

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Sens. John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, Democratic running mates for president and vice president, met tonight to discuss a proposed military spending shock treatment reply to insults from Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

It will be their first meeting since they accepted nominations at the national convention. A move to force Republican hands on the issue on how much the United States must spend for arms to be safe ranks high on their agenda. They have other things to discuss, however.

Kennedy said Thursday more defense money is needed. But he mentioned no dollar total. Averell Harriman, one of his top foreign policy advisers and the man many expect will be Kennedy's secretary of state if the Democrats win, has advocated a two billion dollar extra appropriation in the Congress session starting Aug. 8. Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York has advocated even more—3½ billions.

Harriman's idea, he told newsmen here after a visit with Kennedy last week, is to earmark a couple of billions for specific military purposes as a "jarring" answer to the insults Khrushchev has heaped on this country since the U-2 spy plane incident. Harriman's philosophy is that Khrushchev understands strength — and that we are not so strong as we should be militarily.

Johnson also has been critical of the Eisenhower administration's defense program. He will fly here tonight, stopping en route to visit former President Harry S. Truman.

Sources close to Kennedy said the two standard bearers will discuss the whole matter at length. Kennedy will meet Johnson at the airport, and drive him to his home for an evening of talk and an overnight stay. They plan to sit up late, and have a news conference Saturday morning.

Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee in 1952 and 1956, is due this afternoon but apparently has no plan to get together with Kennedy until Saturday after Johnson leaves.

U. S. Space

There is a chance the capsule may have fallen somewhere in the ocean between the Cape and the intended landing area 800 miles northwest of the West Indies island of Antigua.

The flight was to subject the one-ton capsule to the worst re-entry conditions an astronaut might encounter if his space cabin is suddenly jettisoned because of failure of the booster rocket shortly after launching.

It was an opening shot in a U.S. bid to send a man to the fringes of space by the end of this year and into orbit sometime in 1961.

All seven American astronauts were present today for this key test.

There was no living thing aboard the capsule today although monkeys have ridden in two earlier Mercury test units.

The giant Atlas thundered off its pad at 9:13 a.m. EST. Its mission was to push its capsule to an altitude of 110 miles and release it at a speed of 13,000 miles an hour.

If all goes well, the space chamber will streak back to earth, slamming through the so-called "heat barrier" of the atmosphere with the force of a truck ramming a brick wall.

It will drop into the Atlantic about 800 miles northwest of Antigua, approximately 1,500 miles from Cape Canaveral.

The trip was expected to take 20 minutes. A large fleet of ships, planes and helicopters was waiting to attempt recovery of the capsule.

By JOHN CHADWICK

CHICAGO (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge, a blue-blooded diplomat from Boston, took his place beside Richard M. Nixon today in the fight to keep Republicans at the nation's helm.

Nominated without opposition and death struggle between the Communists and the free world gives this year's election "its compelling, overwhelming importance to us and the free world."

No one, he said, is so well fitted as Nixon to represent this country in the turmoil of world politics.

Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee, had picked Lodge as his running mate after a conference with party leaders.

Lodge, the chief U.S. spokesman at the United Nations, arranged to go with Nixon to a meeting of the Republican National Committee to lay out campaign plans and then to sit in on a news conference called by Nixon.

The latest word from Lodge was that he planned to resign his U.N. post next month, although White House press secretary James Hagerty said Thursday he saw no need for such action.

Lodge was presented to the final session of the Republican National Convention as a man who has been "tested and proved in the fires of today's world."

In accepting the vice-presidential nomination, he said the "life and death struggle" between the Communists and the free world gives this year's election "its compelling, overwhelming importance to us and the free world."

No one, he said, is so well fitted as Nixon to represent this country in the turmoil of world politics.

In the platform adopted by the convention, he said, the Republicans have the program the country needs.

Lodge, 58, placed in nomination by Rep. Walter Judd of Minnesota, the convention keynoter who was favored by many Midwesterners for Nixon's running mate.

In 1952 it was Lodge who managed Eisenhower's successful campaign to win the GOP presidential nomination from the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

In the same year Lodge lost his seat in the U.S. Senate to John F. Kennedy, now the Democratic candidate for president.

Firms Want to Issue More Stock

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The financially-troubled Life and Industrial Companies, Inc., and three affiliates have proposed that they be allowed to stay in business by issuing stock in payment of debts totaling $955,000.

The plan must be approved by a majority of creditors and then by Bankruptcy Referee Lee Cazort Sr. before it can become effective.

A creditors' meeting will be held Aug. 23.

The companies would buy back the stock and pay the debt as they became financially able.

President Rolland D. Brown said this would take seven years or longer.

The creditors are some 1,100 persons who hold bonds or have performed services for the companies.

Attorneys for Life and Industrial told Cazort at a hearing on the plan yesterday that the only alternative was a conventional bankruptcy, which would result in tremendous loss to the stockholders and creditors.

Life and Industrial and the affiliates—Southwest Concrete Materials Corp., Suddreth Concrete Pipe Co. and Southern Stocks, Inc.—plan to merge into one firm along with another affiliate not involved in the federal court action if the debt payment proposal is approved.

Surprised, Says Lodge of Choice

NEW YORK (AP)—United Nations Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said today he was "overwhelmed" at being selected to be Vice President Richard M. Nixon's running mate on the Republican presidential ticket.

Lodge, a former U. S. senator from Massachusetts, said the Republican presidential nominee telephoned him this morning and said he "supported me as the Republican nominee for vice president."

"I was really touched by hearing it first directly from him," Lodge told a news conference.

Lodge indicated clearly he would accept if nominated.

In his conversation with Nixon, Lodge said "I thanked him very effusively. I'm very grateful that the people there felt I was fit."

He said that if nominated he expected to resign "some time in August" from his post as U. S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Lodge said he was ready to campaign anywhere in the country and that he was "very optimistic about the outcome."

"It will be a fighting campaign," he said.

Surrounded by newsmen and television cameras in the Palm Room of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, the handsome, slightly graying Lodge was composed and genial as he handled a barrage of questions.

Ike to Visit Jamboree in Colorado

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—President Eisenhower decided to pay a visit today to the Boy Scout Jamboree near Colorado Springs, 50 miles south of Denver.

Eisenhower, relaxing in Colorado for a few days after attending the Republican National Convention in Chicago, arranged to travel by automobile to the encampment of almost 57,000 scouts from all sections of the country.

James C. Hagerly, White House press secretary, said the President had no plans to make a speech.

Eisenhower, who is honorary president of the Boy Scouts, plans to return to Denver immediately after touring the encampment.

It was in this Colorado capital that Eisenhower eight years ago this month was planning the political campaign that took him to the White House.

The suit for fall can look any one of many ways, all of them chic. Fur-trimmed suits are high fashion this year, are part of the important parade of luxurious clothes colored or banded in fisher, mink or sable. Harry Frechtel does a dark beige wool suit (left) with slightly shaped jacket colored in ranch mink. Suits and dresses cross each other this fall. Here, by Oleg Cassini, is the suit look interpreted in what is actually a double-breasted middy dress of men's wear gray wool. Gilet and cuffs are in white silk faille. The three-piece suit costume (right) from the Arthur Jablo collection shows another totally different suit look. This one is in hot pink wool, has boxy jacket over a sleeveless, buttoned vest. Neckline is filled in with silk taffeta scarf. Any of these designs could be the backbone of a fall wardrobe.

I am 28 years old have been married 10 years and have two children. I work nights and my husband work days. I have been doing this six years so we could pay for a home. My husband is a good man.

Last year I met a man at work who asked me to go out with him. I did. Now we love each other very much. He is three years younger than I, also married and has two children. His wife will not give him a divorce.

I left my husband two months ago. He found out about my boy friend. I told him the whole story. He is willing to forgive me and wants me back at home with the children. I love my children. I also love my boy friend. I have to make a decision soon as to which I want. Help me! —Confused

Dear Confused: You have answered yourself. You have presented your problem in such a way that there can be only one answer: return to your husband and children. In your heart, that is what you want to do. The sooner you do it, the fewer will be the scars on your own heart.

Don't Cui Quotes in Half

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.

The sign at the airport read "Welcome to Cyprus." Underneath was printed "William Shakespeare." The incident is recorded in the book, "Exodus," by Leonard Uris, telling of the arrival of one Mark Parker who saw the sign and was certain that there was more to the quotation.

Later, sipping coffee, he remembered that the words were from Othello but what was the whole statement? He couldn't remember. The taxi driver thought that it was an attempt to be nice to tourists. Then, it came to him. The sign read "Welcome to Cyprus." The full quotation was: "Welcome to Cyprus: goats and monkeys."

There are other half-quotations we choose for our benefit. One of Emerson's is printed in church bulletins and reads: "I like the silent church."

That's a nice admonition urging us to be quiet. But as a preacher

I'm silenced by the rest of the quotation which reads:

"I like the silent church better than the sermon which follows."

There was a much-married couple who had the justice of the peace reward the vows into a paraphrase in which they promised "to live together as long as both shall love." That's a kind of cynical honesty for legalized adultery.

Or consider the civilian who wants all of the privileges of America and none of its responsibilities, all of its freedom and none of its discipline, all of its rewards and none of the payments.

The widely publicized Charles Van Doren found himself rationalizing his conduct under the pretext that "this is just entertainment." Presumably this could justify any performance whether before the TV camera or the grand jury.

Young Slayer to Get Mental Test

BENTONVILLE, Ark. (AP)—

Fifteen-year-old Gary Earl Bright, who three years ago shot three members of his family to death, will be given a mental examination as a result of an attack on his stepmother last Friday.

The boy yesterday pleaded innocent because of insanity to a slaying.

Circuit Judge M. A. P. Cummings ordered him to State Hospital for 30 days for the sanity test.

The boy struck Mrs. Earl Bright, 43, with a pipe wrench in an apparently unprovoked attack at their farm home near here. Mrs. Bright was not injured seriously.

In 1957 Gary Earl killed his mother, a brother and a sister in a fit of temper after his mother told him to bring a cow from a pasture.

No charges were filed because of his youth. He was placed then in a juvenile home but later was released.

word for "supper." Said the lady: "We have dinner at noon and my father would never come home then." We read words as we want to hear them.

Is this the reason we read "forgive us" and forget to finish the petition with "as we forgive those who trespass against us?"

Is this the reason we can read "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor" and engage in propaganda or perjury to justify self?

Is this the reason men can read "They that worship God must worship in spirit and in truth" and yet permit economic, political or social suppression of some one who doesn't fit a particular form of faith?

Pat O'Brien in New Role on Television

By PHYLLIS BATTLE

HOLLYWOOD — H-A Double H-A-G-A-N spells a new role for Pat O'Brien.

You know Pat O'Brien — he's the guy who can punch Jimmy Cagney around, and give Spencer Tracy what for. He has always been real tough (though golden hearted) in the movies, and he has always been real adamant (though willing to listen) about television offers.

But this fall he starts an ABC-TV series called "Harrigan and Son," created by Cy Howard, who loved Lacy and made her famous, and he's going to be the most humane, basically gentle character on the home screen.

"Oh, maybe a little gruff on the surface once in awhile," Pat explains, "because nobody can take too much sentimentality from this kisser. But underneath, I'm intelligent, sympathetic, tender and completely non-violent — the kind of guy I've always wanted to be, and the kind of role I haven't seen since I did 'Katie Kookne' a million years ago."

Pat, who claims to be so soft he cries at card tricks, insists he has persistently turned down television series before now because he was offered only "violence formulas" — and I think there's too much of this new kind of violence on TV.

"I'd be a helluva hypocrite if I said I couldn't stand the sight of men fighting; after all Jimmy Cagney and I made a living knocking each other around."

"But we were kids behind the barn, compared to the stuff we have now. This new television violence is the burn-your-mother, hit him in the back of the neck, flatten him with judo and step on his face, stuff. It's pure sadism."

The other reason he's taking on the role of "Harrigan," an out-spoken attorney of the Clarence Darrow stripe with a smart young son who's just passed the bar, is that Pat O'Brien once yearned to be a lawyer.

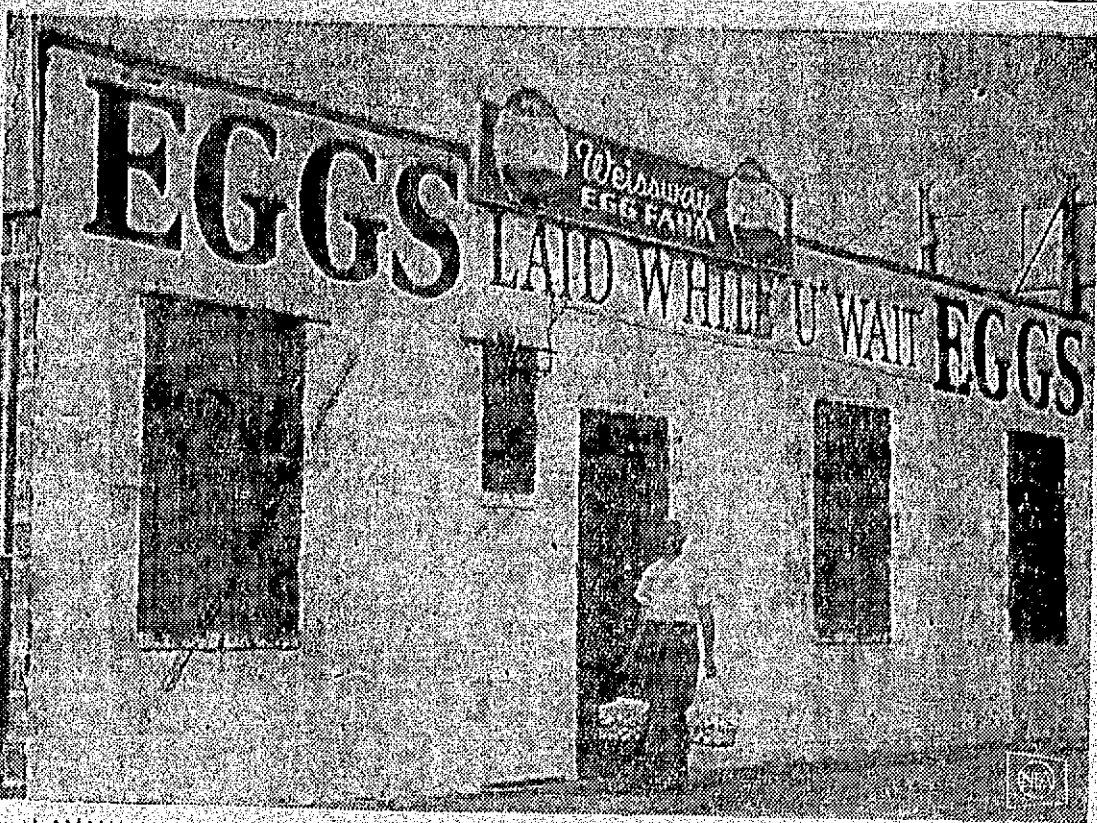

"I was all set for it. Had two years in law at Marquette under my belt. Then the war came. That would be the first war, honey, I'm sixty."

"Spence (Tracy) and I decided to enlist in the Navy so we could get the miserable thing over together. We'd been friends all our lives. When we got out," O'Brien remembers, "I decided to stay in New York."

Realizing there was a faster buck to be made in acting than in law, he persuaded Tracy to stay with him and enroll at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts. The rest is historic box-office.

"I've occasionally felt frustrated since. Like I should have gone with law — like maybe it was more 'worthwhile'."

The actor frowned. "You know, acting makes you feel like a bur-

Chapter XXIX

The gunmen, stunned and bewildered, scrambled out of the car. In this emergency Artemus had no desire to be merciful. He sighted carefully. His bullet, ripping into the first gunman's shoulder, knocked the man to the ground. His second shot, fired low, broke the other gunman's leg. Artemus continued to crouch, thankful for long hours spent in pistol practice. The two wounded men writhed in pain. Artemus advanced to stand over them.

Jennifer tottered out of the car, gashed forehead streaming with blood. She came around the back of the car and stood, dazed and wavering.

"I'm all right," she said shakily. "Get their guns," he snapped. "Stay out of the line of fire."

She obeyed him swiftly and efficiently. And then he was astonished to see her fumble in her handbag. Her hand came out gripping a small automatic. Not with flabby, uncertain, feminine grip, but as one familiar with the weapon and its handling. What was this carefully nurtured Southern belle doing with a pistol in her handbag?

Guests, startled by the shots, were streaming out of the night club. Again Artemus was surprised to see that Jennifer knew where to search for weapons in the thugs' shoulder holsters. She tossed them toward him.

"What goes on here? What's the shooting?" demanded a merry-maker in the surrounding crowd. "Keep back," Artemus snapped. "Somebody call the cops. Call Lieutenant Dutra."

Somewhat later, Dutra questioned Jennifer, while Artemus waited outside under guard. Then the Secret Service man was ushered in; the door was closed, and he and the police officer were face to face.

"Let's have your version," said Dutra.

"We stopped at a red light. Those two guns came aboard."

"Careless, weren't you?"

"Could be," Artemus admitted. "I was busy at the moment."

"That's what the lipstick says," Dutra grinned.

"So," Artemus went on, "I took a chance and hoped for the best. They're the Baffins' boys. From the Coast."

"Want me to hold you?"

"I've got to be loose," Artemus said. "Get the word to Westler. Pick me up sometime tomorrow. My heap's a mess. Send Miss Beauregard and me home."

The sun was high when he awakened. He showered, put on a bathrobe and telephoned the garage. His car never would be handsome again, but it would be usable by late afternoon. He dressed and walked downtown for breakfast, and then made a reconnaissance. He strolled along Adams Street for a couple of blocks and turned south. Then he turned to the stationery shop which Walker Bayside had entered, and in which he had rather bewilderingly disappeared on that day when Artemus had encountered Pomfret Lionel Roche prowling the city's printing shops.

He opened the door and entered. A counter ran down one side of the store. There were racks and shelves displaying articles which one might expect to find in a shop of that sort. The store was bisected by a glass partition, behind which could be office or stock room. Artemus stepped to the counter.

"Box of paper clips," he said to the clerk, who seemed an ordinary young man, perhaps 30

The Bosom Is Making a Comeback

By MADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP)—The bosom made a comeback, along with handspan waistlines, in the Lanvin years of ago. The clerk opened a drawer, extended a box of clips and staled the price. Artemus paid. His eyes had been mapping the shop, but he did not linger. He went into the street again and paced the distance to the next corner. Then he turned left and continued to the street paralleling the one upon which the stationery shop was located. He wanted to determine what building backed against the shop, and paced off the distance. He found himself at the door of a small printing shop. Across the back was a partition pierced by a doorway through which Artemus could see a couple of men working at small presses.

He strolled over to Central Avenue and to the hotel, where he telephoned the Beauregards to inquire for Jennifer. After last night's unpleasant events,

"My daughter," said the colonel, "is much more indestructible than her appearance indicates. She's on the roof at the moment, at the pool."

Jennifer lay upon a long chair, eyes closed. She wore a searled swimming suit. She opened her eyes and looked up at him and smiled.

"My dear," she said, "I expected you to call earlier."

"My good manners," he said, "don't come on before noon."

Her beautiful eyes crinkled in a smile. "You do provide original amusement. When a girl goes out with you she sees life."

"A little less fireworks would be plenty," he said shortly.

She patted the cushion beside her. "If I were a girl who wanted to know about a man," she said, "the verdict would be that you passed a test."

"You got what it takes," he answered.

"That," she said, and for an instant he thought he detected the edge of a sneer in her voice, "is what I call eloquence."

An attendant came toward them. "Telephone, Miss Beauregard," he said.

"Excuse me," Jennifer said, and not troubling to throw a robe about her, she walked toward the booth, followed by the eyes of every man on the deck.

Castillo fall and winter fashion collection shown this morning.

Designer Castillo's main idea is a teardrop shaped skirt which covers the knees by a 2 or 3 inches. His show includes the prettiest colors and color combinations seen in Paris so far in this dark and sober season.

The Lanvin-Castillo collection rebels against nearly all the trends of the season, in fact, and looks handsome enough to get by with it. Castillo's "1961 woman" owes nothing to the '30s and late '20s, which have inspired nearly all the other designers including Dior's Yves Saint Laurent, who showed Wednesday.

The teardrop skirt gets its shape by curving out slightly over the hips—or toward the hem in suit skirts—and drawing in to a slanted two or three inch band at the bottom. This hemline is neither gathered in enough to be harem, nor tight enough to be hobbles, as the mannequins proved by their easy, unhampered walk.

Actually, it is another version of the melon skirt shown by Dior Wednesday, but it comes out a great deal more gracefully by starting higher and ending lower.

Belted and fitted waists naturally show off the bustline to better advantage, and evening fashions actually glorify it with deep scooped, slightly shelved décolletage and ruffled and jeweled bra fronts.

Some of Castillo's most delectable color combinations were purple with pale pink, brown with creamy beige, white with violet, pink trimming black, black over brown, and dark and pale gold satin. A range of violets and reds

Rookies Seem to Be Trying for Top Honors

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was rookie uprising day in the National League Thursday. Candidates for first-year honors popped up nearly everywhere.

In San Francisco, pitching sensation Juan Marichal posted his third straight spectacular performance, a seven-hitter, as the Giants defeated the Milwaukee Braves 3-2 in 10 innings.

In Los Angeles, big Frank Howard drove in six runs with a grand slam homer and a single as the Dodgers outslug the Cincinnati Reds 8-6.

In Chicago, Pancho Herrera walloped his 15th home run and drove in two runs in Philadelphia's 3-2 decision over the Cubs.

Other first-year men who distinguished themselves were Philadelphia pitcher Dallas Green, who turned in a winning six-hitter, the Cubs' Morris Thacker, who drove in his team's only run, and Cincinnati's Gordon Coleman and Chico Cardenas, who homered in a losing cause.

Pittsburgh, enjoying a day off with St. Louis, saw its first-place lead increased to two games over Milwaukee.

New York's Yankees climbed back into first place in the American League by .003 percentage points over Chicago with a 4-0, 9-2 sweep of a two-night doubleheader over Cleveland after Boston had beaten the White Sox 4-2 in a daytime affair. Washington nipped Detroit 6-5 and Baltimore shut out Kansas City 5-0 on Jerry Barber's one-hitter.

Marichal, the Giants' 21-year-old right-hander, continued the brilliant pitching that marked his debut when he turned in a spectacular one-hitter against Philadelphia. His second victory was a 4-hitter against Pittsburgh.

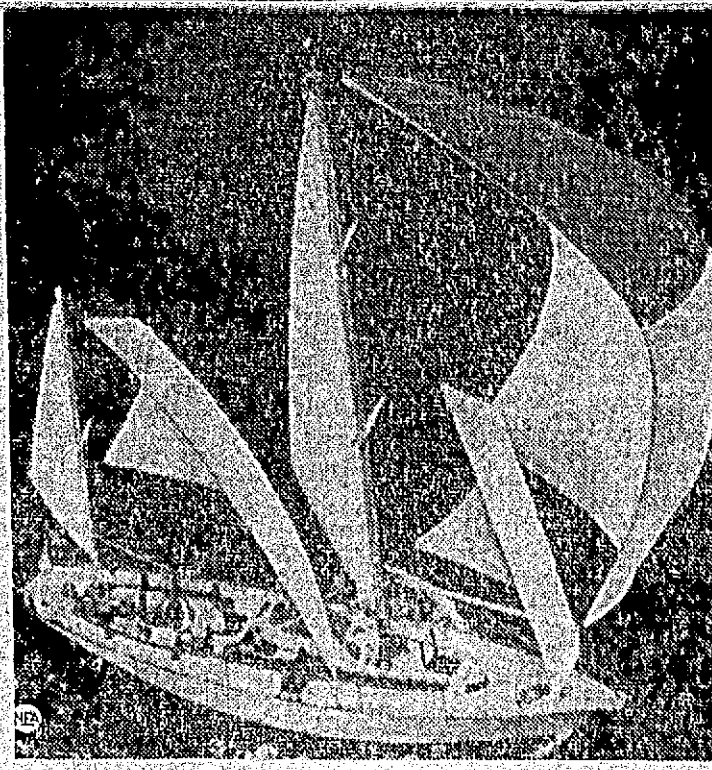

Felipe Alou drove in the winning run in the 10th with a single off shortstop Johnny Logan's chest. The hit scored Joey Amalfitano who doubled with one out and moved to third when loser Warren Spahn walked Orlando Cepeda after purposely passing Willie Mays.

Howard, hailed as the "next Babe Ruth," hit his grand slammer in the first inning after a hit batter, a single and an error had filled the bases. The homer was his 16th of the season. Howard's single also came with the bases loaded, in the second.

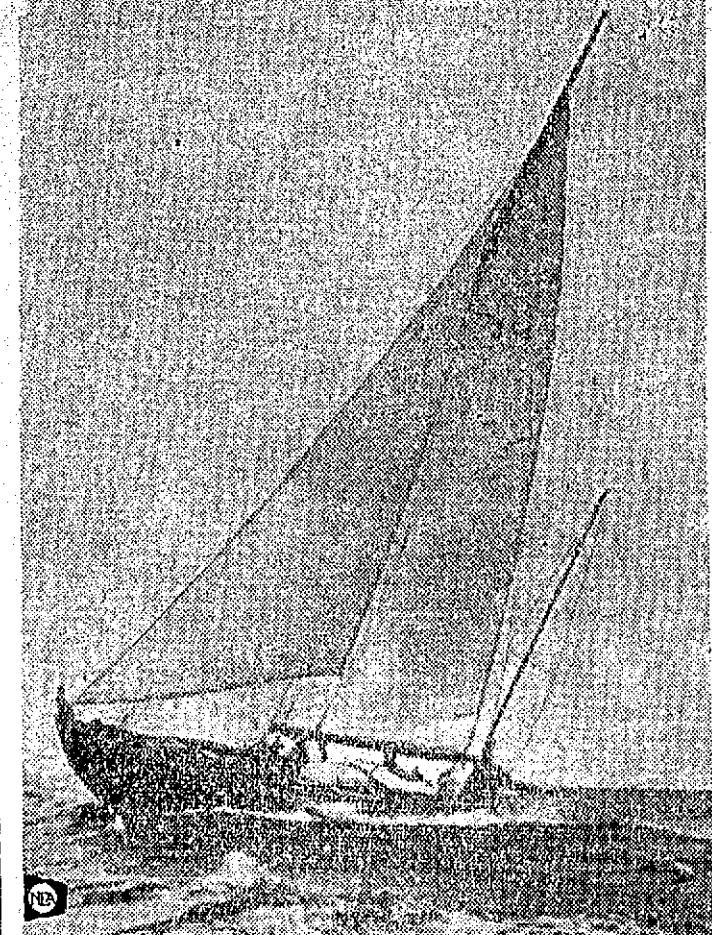

Cincinnati and Los Angeles made only 12 hits between them, five of them home runs. Besides Howard, Coleman and Cardenas, Frank Robinson hit his 20th for the Reds and Chuck Essegian got his second for the Dodgers.

Bobby Del Greco and Herrera accounted for all the Phillies' runs in their victory over the Cubs.

Burning charcoal gives off almost twice as much heat as an equal volume of wood.

OCEAN RACER — All out in a strong wind, Windrose makes a pretty picture. Yawl, owned by Jacob Isbrandtsen of New York, competed in the Newport-to-Bermuda race.

ON TOP—Battered by storms in the home stretch, Ventura was the first boat to finish the 635-mile race from Newport to Bermuda. But Capt. H. Wesley Reed's 72-foot yawl lost out for over-all honors because of her big handicap.

Yankees Clip Indians in a Twin Bill

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jimmy Piersall may be right, after all.

When the Cleveland players threatened recently to hold a meeting to discuss what should be done about Piersall's scrapes with the umpires, the explosive outfielder remarked:

"While they're discussing me, maybe they should also discuss the hitters who have been taking so many third strikes with men on bases and the pitchers who have been throwing so many home run balls."

The Indians staged one of their most inept performances of the season Thursday night as the New York Yankees moved them down twice, 4-0 and 9-2, to regain first place from Chicago by .003 percentage points. The White Sox lost their game and a half edge by dropping a daytime 4-2 decision in Boston.

In other American League games Baltimore blanked Kansas City 5-0 and Washington edged Detroit 6-5.

In the National, San Francisco's Giants nipped Milwaukee 3-2 in 10 innings for rookie Aqua Marichal's third straight victory. Los Angeles downed Cincinnati 8-6 and Philadelphia defeated Chicago 3-2. Pittsburgh and St. Louis were idle.

Cleveland's glaring weakness — inability to hit in the clutch — was most evident. The vanishing Indians, losers of 16 of their last 20 including their last five, put 22 runners on base in the twin bill at Yankee Stadium, 16 via hits and six via bases on balls. Only two of them scored. They left 17 on base.

Jim Perry, Cleveland's ace right-hander with 11 victories, permitted only nine hits in losing his fifth decision in the opener. Three of the Yankee hits were home runs. Mickey Mantle cracked his 26th, Tony Kubek his ninth and Cleve Boyer his eighth.

Tom Brewer spaced 10 hits and catcher Jaywood Sullivan, a .165 hitter, smashed a two-run homer to give the Red Sox their first victory in their last 10 meetings with the White Sox. Billy Pierce absorbed his sixth defeat.

Jerry Barber hurled a one-hitter for Baltimore over the A's. A sixth-inning single ruined the night bid of the 21-year-old southpaw who fanned 10. Two-run homers by Brooks Robinson and Ronnie Hansen and a solo smash by Gene Woodling paved the way for Bud Daley's eighth defeat. He has won 12.

Washington rallied for three runs in the ninth — as the Senators came from behind to nip the Tigers. Four walks, a sacrifice fly and an error by Frank Bolling, highlighted the winning rally.

HYDROSTREAKING ALONG—Experimental air-cushion U.S. Navy boat, called the Hydrostreak, rips along the Potomac River in Washington, right. Centered in its roof is big ducted fan which forces air down onto water where it is trapped by wall of water fore and aft and runners along the sides. Riding two feet above the water on this air-cushion, the boat is driven along by two 80-h.p. engines and twin screws much faster than ordinary craft. Left is shown the bottom of the unusual boat which is manufactured by the Hughes Tool Co. Horizontal nozzles from which water is pumped stretch across bow and stern.

WORLD'S BIGGEST HYDROFOIL?—The new Russian hydrofoil "Meteor" races toward Moscow from Gorky at about 50 m.p.h. The Soviets say the 130-passenger motorboat is the largest of its type.

LONG CAR CARRIERS FOR RAILROAD—The Prisco Railroad has ordered 130 of these three-tiered transports capable of hauling 15 compact or 12 regular-sized autos. Delivery from St. Louis, Mo., is expected in August and September, in time to handle the 1961 models.

TO THE CITIZENS OF HEMPSTEAD COUNTY:

Sincerely,

U. G. GARRETT
